

Kasian Architecture Interior Design and Planning Ltd:

Local Architect for the New National Music Centre

Kasian is one of the leading 100 architecture, interior design and planning firms in the world, with offices in Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Regina, Toronto, Doha in Qatar and Shanghai in China. Established in 1983, we employ an integrated and collaborative approach to design, to create exceptional and sustainable spaces and places.

Our culture of education and shared knowledge keeps us at the forefront of best practice and innovation. Serving a broad range of clients, we've grown to a firm of nearly 300 professionals. Our award-winning projects range from the most advanced children's hospital in the world, to master plans for the most densely populated cities on the planet.

As the local architect for the new National Music Centre, Kasian's role is to lead the construction administration phase, assist with the tendering process and prepare the construction documents. Bill Chomik, (Architect AAA, MAIBC, FRAIC, Hon. FAIA, RCA), is Kasian's Principal in Charge for this project. One of Canada's leading architects, Bill is a recipient of the Governor General's Award for Architecture and has directed the design and construction of over 500 buildings worldwide. His award-winning work includes the University of Calgary's Taylor Family Digital Library, one of the most innovative and technologically advanced libraries in North America. Bill Chomik is delighted to be involved with the creation of the new facility: "This iconic Centre will be a catalyst for discovery and innovation. Kasian is delighted to have the opportunity to contribute to the cultural infrastructure of our great city of Calgary."
